Avalon Mill was built by the Calvert family and was located in Bladensburg off Edmonston Road. It was torn down in 1929. (Submitted by Susan Reidy, historian for the Natural and Historical Resources Division of Maryland-National Capital Park & Planning Commission; courtesy of S.K. Cristofane.)

MERCHANT'S MILL FOR RENT.

—The Avalon Mill, situated on the Eastern Branch of the Potomac, adjoining the town of Bladensburg, will be rented to a good tenant during the coming wheat season, or longer if desired. This Mill was built about fifteen years ago by Richard Ison, has four pair of stones, is in good repair on a never failing stream, and has many advantages from its location in a wheat growing country, and the facility of transportation by water or rail road.

Application to be made to the Subscriber, at Riversdale, near Bladensburg, Maryland.

Dear Sir

I take this method of informing you that I have my heavy stock in store for Servants wear which I would be pleased to supply you, as I can give you good articles and such that will wear your Servants one year and will keep their feet dry and comfortable, I will sell them to you very reasonable and very much cheaper than you can buy them in your village all I ask is you to give me a call and look at my stock as I know I can make such inducements, as that will not fail to please as I consider my present stock much superior to any that I ever have had. So please do not give me the go by this season as you can depend on it I will sell you goods better and cheaper than they ever have been bought, please call or send your measure and you will be honestly dealt by

Your Very Respectfully Obt Servant
